About Me

My name is Pavel. I'm a front-end developer with experience in creating websites on the Shopify platform and creating applications utilizing React/Redux and TypeScript. I like working with React for its flexibility and versatility, also I'm fond of the Shopify platform because I think it is the best product for creating e-commerce projects. In my free time, I watch videos and read articles about technologies that I want to learn such as Next.js, Hydrogen React, and Node.js. Also, I'm a big fan of bicycles and studying English.
